

Mercury Free Statement

April 2018

This statement letter affirms the following:

1. Texmate products do not use mercury to perform any of their intended functions.
2. Texmate products do not come into direct contact with mercury, mercury compounds or with any mercury containing device employing a single boundary of containment.
3. Mercury is not intentionally added to any Texmate product.
4. Manufacturing processes, instruments and equipment used by Texmate do not cause mercury contamination.
5. Texmate uses RoHS compliant materials and components that do not guarantee that Texmate's products are completely free of mercury, but only that mercury that may be contained in those materials and components meets the European Union RoHS Directive.

Texmate does not subject its products to analytical testing. Texmate makes these statements based on its own knowledge and on information supplied by third parties that Texmate believes to be true. Should you have any questions regarding the content of this statement and how it may affect your business with Texmate, please call us or email orders@texmate.com.
